HELLO, WE ARE KAVIORA

Good technology starts with real life.

A customer trying to book a car. A restaurant managing the next order. A team looking for the right document. These are the moments we build for.

DP Rental was our first project in Albania. Its booking and fleet workflows are a practical starting point for our story: the customer experience and the work behind it belong together.

That idea runs through Kaviora. We bring design, software and AI into the same conversation, so the result feels clear to the person using it and useful to the business running it.

We chose Albania because we see a future gateway to Europe: a small country with remarkable potential, welcoming people and inspiring talent. That combination brought us here. It continues to inspire us to build, grow and contribute to Albania's next chapter.

Average economic growth, 2022-2025

World Bank, Western Balkans report, Spring 2026

Our first project here was DP Rental. Today, we build for businesses serving local people and international customers, in an economy the World Bank describes as supported by tourism and stronger trade and services links with the EU.

AI is part of the national conversation, too.

In 2025, Albania introduced Diella, a virtual AI system given the title of Minister of State for Artificial Intelligence, following its role as an e-Albania assistant. The government lists public-service accessibility and digitalisation among its aims.

Our response is hands-on: help a team find information, prepare work and keep decisions with people. KAVI and Kaviora Lex bring that approach into everyday business workflows.

FROM AN IDEA TO SOMETHING PEOPLE USE

First, understand. Then, make it work.

You know your business. We bring the design and engineering to turn that knowledge into a usable product. The best place to start is a real task, a real customer and a clear next step.

01 Listen to the business

Who is using it? Where does the process become difficult? What would a better day look like?

02 Make the idea visible

We shape the journeys, content and visual direction, so you can respond to something concrete.

03 Build the details that matter

Customer pages, staff tools, integrations and permissions need to work together.

04 Review it together

We check the experience across devices and work through the important journeys before launch.

OUR FIRST PROJECT IN ALBANIA

A journey starts before the keys.

DP Rental began with a practical vision: make finding a car feel straightforward, while giving the rental business a clear way to manage the booking behind it.

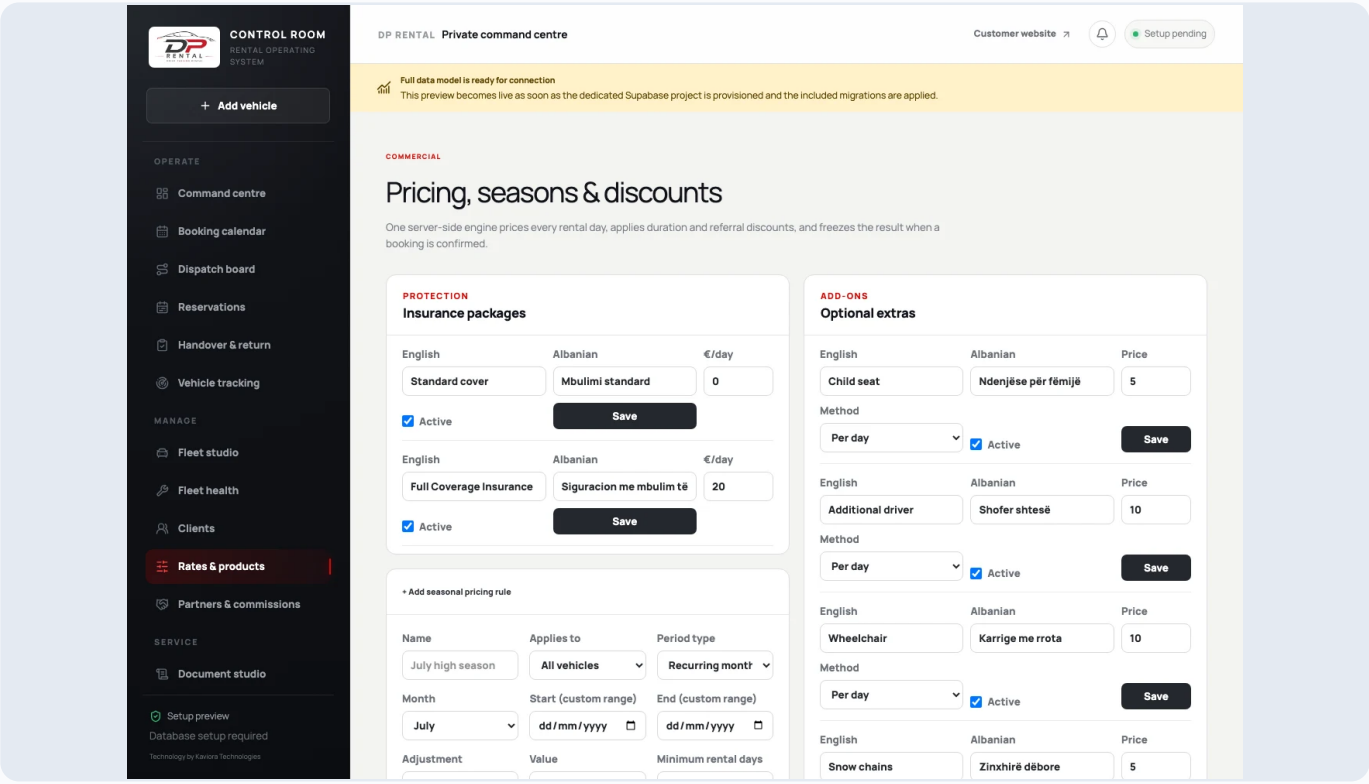

DP Rental / Customer booking journey / Sample vehicles shown

A traveller needs dates, a car and clear options. A rental team needs availability, prices and reservations. We brought both sides into one connected experience, with Albanian and English journeys.

THE WORK BEHIND THE WELCOME

Built for the team as well as the traveller.

DP Rental / Pricing workspace / Demonstration data

A clearer booking path

Vehicle browsing, travel dates and extras belong in a journey the customer can follow.

A working view of the business

Fleet, reservations, availability and pricing give staff the context to manage the service.

A local beginning

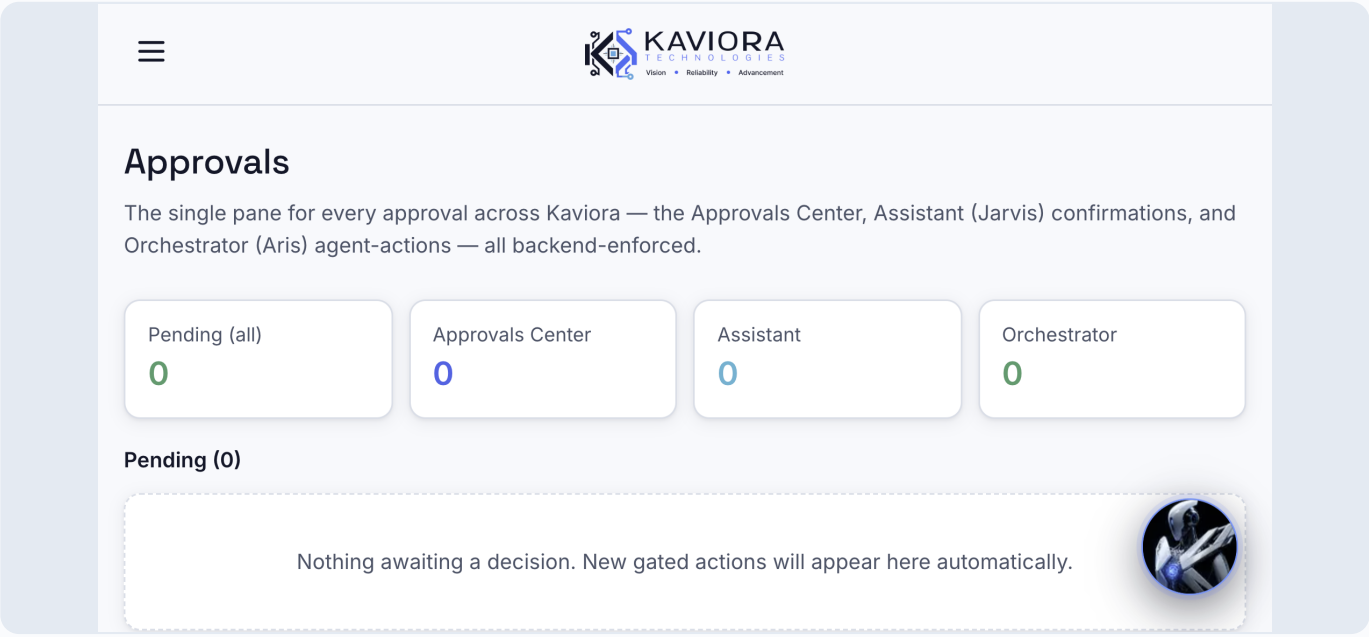

As our first project in Albania, DP Rental anchors our work in a real business category and a customer journey people recognise.

OUR INTERNAL PLATFORM

Less searching. More moving forward.

We created KAVI around a simple need: give work, documents and approvals a place to meet. Company OS brings that idea into a connected view of how a business operates.

KAVI / Internal approval workspace

See what needs attention

Projects, operational context and approval queues help people find the next decision.

Keep the business context close

A document workspace and versioned company information support the work in front of the team.

Use AI with people in charge

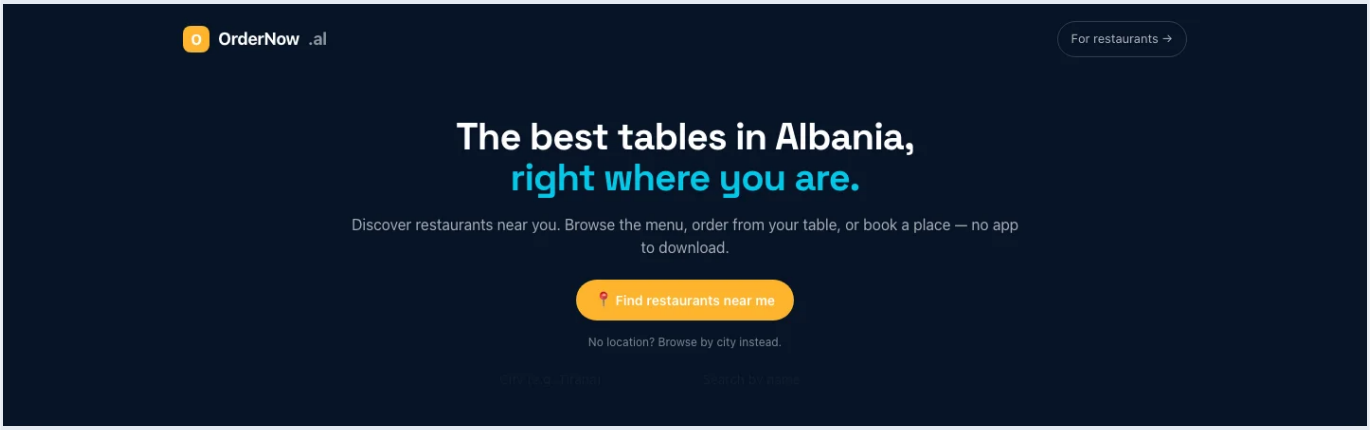

Supervised automation prepares and advances work, with approval and recovery paths when needed.

OUR HOSPITALITY PRODUCT

A better flow from menu to kitchen.

We created OrderNow for the moments that connect a guest to a restaurant: discovering a place, reading a menu and placing an order. Kaviora Serve carries that journey into the work behind the counter.

OrderNow / Public discovery introduction

Make the menu easy to reach

Multilingual menus and QR table access put the information close to the guest.

Connect the order to the service

Table and pickup ordering connect with kitchen order flow and booking requests.

Give operations a clearer view

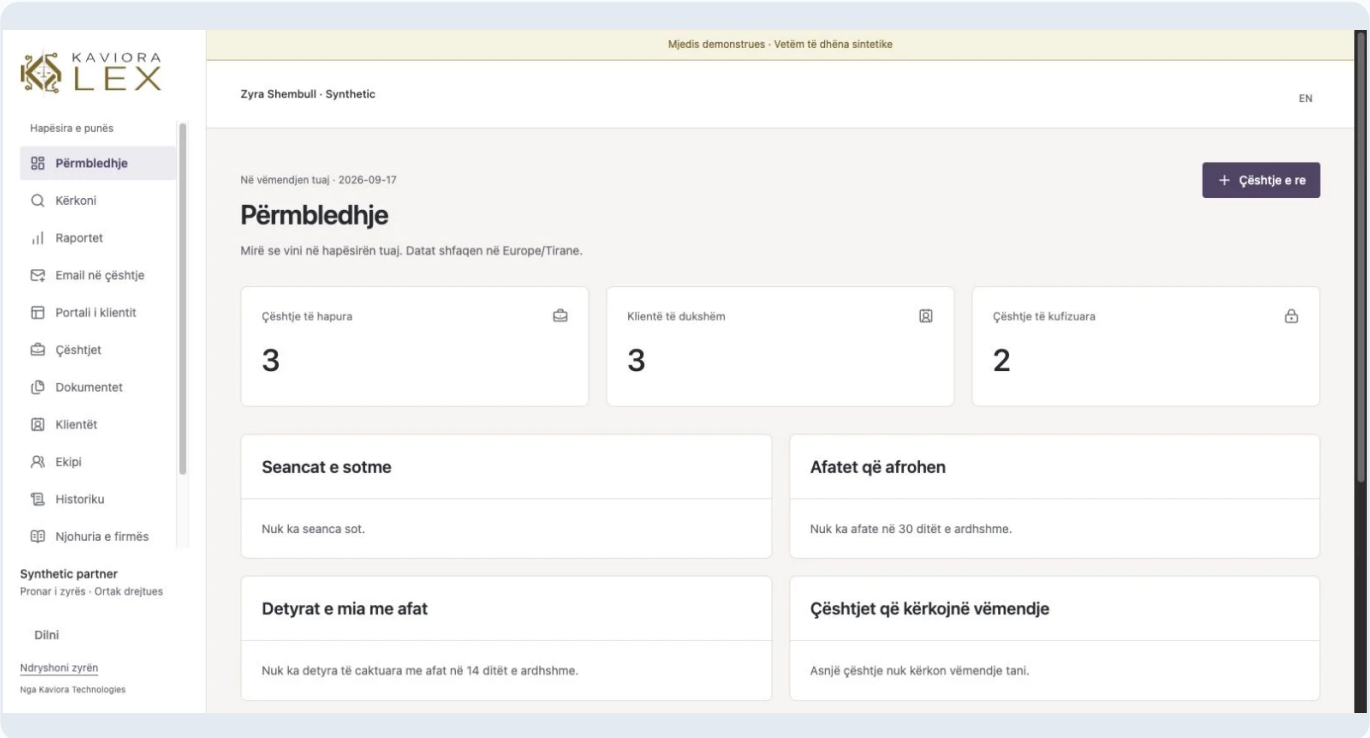

Inventory, analytics and subscription administration support the restaurant workspace.

OUR LEGAL PRODUCT

More time for the work that matters.

We created Kaviora Lex to bring legal files, client context and preparation into one workspace. The aim is simple: help professionals spend less time piecing information together.

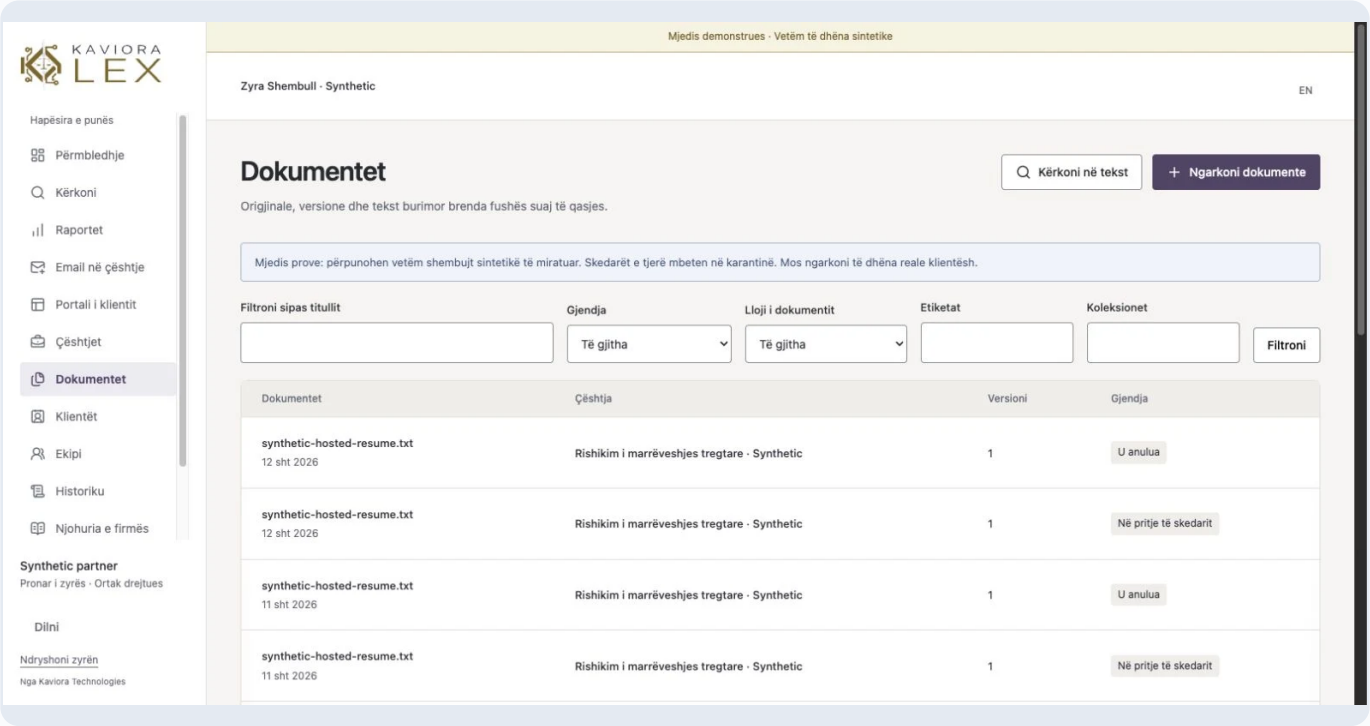

Kaviora Lex / Demonstration workspace with sample data

Matters give the work its context. Documents make it usable. AI supports research and drafting, while legal professionals review the material and remain responsible for the work.

THE DETAILS BEHIND THE DECISION

The right information. In the right context.

Lex / Matter-linked documents / Demonstration records

Keep the file connected

Client and matter workspaces bring document intake, previews and search into the same place.

Prepare with care

Legal Composer and evidence-led research help professionals prepare material for review.

Carry the idea across the business

In KAVI, business documents and role-aware review support the same goal: give people useful context without losing control of access.

We design AI to assist the person doing the work.
